

SOME SURPRISING RESULTS OF PLANT BREEDING

Depending on which part of the plant was selected, wild mustard resulted in the development of seven different species, namely: broccoli, cauliflower, cabbage, brussels sprouts, and other less known varieties such as kale, and kohlrabi.

DID YOU KNOW THAT...?
If these species were no longer cultivated, they would be lost because they do not exist in nature.